

University of Delaware

Tenure and Promotion

The University of Delaware is currently engaged in a 3-year review of all promotion and tenure documents. The final report of Imagining America's Tenure-Team Initiative on Public Scholarship was distributed to all of the departments in the Division of the Arts and Humanities in the College of Arts & Sciences after its initial release by IA. We expect arts and humanities departments to address the need to expand tenure and promotion policies to acknowledge more fully the value of public scholarship and community-based research in the context of this university-wide review. But the P & T document reviews for all of our arts and humanities departments have not yet been completed.