

Sandy Agustin

Neighborhood House

Sandy Agustin is currently the Artistic Director at the Neighborhood House, a social service agency in St. Paul, MN. Her job is to embed the arts into this settlement house model, working primarily with new immigrants, refugees, and critical needs communities and individuals. Agustin has curated several multi-disciplinary series in her former role as Artistic Director of Intermedia Arts in Minneapolis and has consulted for several organizations using arts based civic dialogue, including the Walker Art Center and Higher Education Consortium for Urban Affairs, among others.
